March 2024

Greetings Unto the Populace

Greetings onto the populace of Brendoken,

Masque of Courtly Love was an incredible event! We've come to expect nothing less from our friends in Alderford, and a marvelous time was had by all. We wish to thank the autocrats, staff, and the many volunteers who helped make Masque a success.

In news from Masque, we wish to welcome our new Baronial champions! The amazing pair of Eleanore van Tyne (Arts and Sciences) and Annalena Cecilia Massari (Bardic) have stepped up, and we are overjoyed to have them serve as champions. Much love and thanks to Arwenna and Milisandia for their service as champions.

Congratulations are due for Sgt. Marellus and Warder Grimborgh as both were honored with the Award of the Golden Tower for their contributions to our marshal community. Their Royal Majesties honored a good many of our populace with awards that to list them here would fill up the page! Congratulations to all of you. Well deserved.

As we move into March and warm weather, preparations are already underway for the melee campaign season. Her Excellency will make her annual trek to the south with a small Baronial contingent, joining the Dragon Army at Gulf Wars, while His Excellency plans to join the Baronial Archery corps at Better War Through Archery.

Spring Coronation will be here before we know it. Any and all help will be welcome by he staff and autocrats. Many hands make light work.

determine what would be most appropriate. Alternatively, consult with other people who have several awards already. They can advise you as to possible considerations (and, additionally, you have just brought your candidate to their attention.) If the person already has the award you were considering, it may be that a higher level award/order might be appropriate which might be determined when discussing this possibility with others. Higher awards/orders often need more than one recommendation. Some activities like service, A & S, and martial combat are easy to see and reward. Other martial activities (often taking place off to the side) are frequently overlooked, as are chivalric qualities and background service. Consider all the possible awards and orders when recommending.

Don't assume someone who always seems to be helping, or has prowess at archery (example Forester Dungan!), or does wonderful A & S projects, actually has been recognized. There are many people who get overlooked simply because everyone assumes they have the award already, especially if they have been around a long time. Everyone needs a pat-on-the-back every so often. Check on some of the 'old-timers' who are still around and active. It may have been years since they were last recognized for their contributions. The SCA has no badges like Scouting, but we do have a system to recognize achievement or expertise in our various areas, both on a more local Baronial level and on the wider Kingdom stage. It works best when everyone is involved in helping each other be recognized for their accomplishments.

A Note from our MOAS:

I would just like to say wow! We had an amazing turnout for the Largesse Derby! I am very pleased to announce that Barb Hoffman won the bean count with her lovely leather pouches. We will have another one and more details will be coming. Please remember the Baron and Baroness will always accept Largesse. You don't need to wait for a derby.

The garb raffle continues. We are doing a ticket for each time you wear garb to a baronial meeting. At the December meeting, we will have a drawing and a wonderful prize yet to be determined.

I am very pleased to be a member of such a wonderful Barony. I look forward to serving you.

Lena Krieger

The table for the Dirty Half Dozen Largesse Derby was overflowing! The photos above show only a small sampling of what our populace created.

Six classrooms based on A&S, martial, and bardic topics ran throughout the day and were full of eager learners.

Many well-deserved awards were given at court.

Anyone can make an award recommendation! Arwenna of Kelsley

Yes, you can make an award recommendation even if you do not have that award. You are the 'eyes' of the Midrealm and the Barony of Brendoken. You are more likely to see people doing service, or arts and science, or martial activity than Their Majesties or Their Excellencies. If you, personally, know someone who should be honored, it is more likely that it will happen if you can bring them to the attention of the Crown rather than just hope that the Crown will find them. This is best done through the recommendation system. Kingdom and Baronial awards are given for: recognition of excellence or prowess in an activity, encouragement to continue work in an activity area, or as a pat-on-the-back thank you for work done in an area. Most of the information you need to make a recommendation can be found online.

Firstly, look at the possible awards for both the Barony of Brendoken and the Middle Kingdom and read their descriptions. Some are 'Awards' that can be given more than once (with the exception of the Award of Arms, which is given only once.) Others are called 'Orders' and a person can only be inducted into them one time. Secondly, notice those around you who are doing things: Arts and Sciences, service, any martial activity (heavy weapons, rapier, target archery, combat archery, thrown weapons, siege activity, or equestrian). Other things to observe are those who exhibit chivalric behavior, or accuracy in portrayal of their persona. Make notes of specific activities you have seen that will support your reason for recommendation.

If you feel that an individual or group (there are a few group awards) should be considered for an Award or Order, your next step is to check the Order of Precedence online to see what awards that person has. Both the Baronial and the Kingdom Orders of Precedence work better if you know the person's SCAdian name. The Baronial list is short enough to easily scroll down alphabetically. The Kingdom list has a search bar at the top where you can input a name. If you had a specific award in mind and you discover that the person you were intending to recommend for it does not have it, you can go to the Kingdom award recommendation site and input the required information: SCA name, mundane name, reason(s) why they should have this award and any upcoming events they will be attending. Baronial award recommendations can be made online at the Baronial award recommendation site in the same manner but only need the person's SCA name and reason(s); or you might be able to talk to Their Excellencies more directly.

If you feel that someone should have an award but are not sure which one, describe their activity as fully as possible so Their Majesties (or Their Excellencies) can
